Austin, in the heart of central Texas, is a place apart. Incredibly good live music, even better barbecue, art everywhere you turn—there's so much to do in this vibrant city that it can get overwhelming. Choose a relaxing resort and create an oasis for yourself during your stay in Austin, and have the best of all worlds on your vacation.

Here are the best resorts in Austin:

Four Seasons Austin

Unlike other resorts that are farther away from the city center, the Four Seasons Austin is very close to the business and entertainment districts, but still creates a serene feeling with its expansive views of Lady Bird Lake. The hotel has two restaurants: Ciclo offers modern Texan cuisine, and Live Oak serves a Guadalajara-inspired menu. The spa offers daycation packages, and has eucalyptus steam rooms and a Himalayan salt wall.

Lone Star Court

This "retro ranch," as it describes itself, is full of mid-century decor and luxury amenities, like rain showers and premium linens. ## LINE Austin

In a redesigned 1965 building that once housed a jazz club, the LINE is a piece of Austin history that feels modern and timeless at the same time. Pop-up art exhibits, Texas storytelling evenings and Sunday Soul Review (when a DJ spins Motown songs poolside) add to the hotel's entertaining and high energy vibe. There are four restaurants, cocktail bars and coffee shops—their fine dining restaurant has panoramic views of the city. The view from the hotel's saltwater infinity pool blends seamlessly into Lady Bird Lake, and there are day passes available to enjoy it if you can't stay the night.
