If you're looking to branch out past the craft beer or wine scenes, check out Salt Tequila Bar at Texican Court, a Las Colinas boutique hotel. Try a tequila flight from the spot's large selection of craft tequilas or one of the signature margaritas. When you're ready for some serious eats, take the party inside (or outside) at the Texican's Two Mules Cantina. Finish your night off with some s'mores — available for purchase at the Texican Court front desk — around Salt's fire pit.

5 standout spots for a night out

These Dallas-area destinations offer just the right vibe for a more mature crowd. (Goodbye noisy, standing-room-only bars.)

Finally, there are no carpools to drive and no bedtimes to adhere to. Your time is your own — so why are you sitting at home on a Wednesday night when you no longer have to wait until the weekend to go out? You could be relaxing at a wine bar, escaping to a speakeasy (yeah, they're back in style) or discovering a trendy lounge. And lucky for you, the Dallas area offers all that and more. Here are five of the best places to enjoy a night out.
